Ants

What are ants?

Ants are social insects. They live in colonies, usually underground, and are very successful because of their ability to work together towards the common goal of caring for their queen. Ant colonies are comprised of at least one queen, and her workers. The workers take care of foraging for food to feed the young, and the protection of the queen.

Why do I have them?

Most ants prefer to establish their colonies outside, but will forage and nest indoors depending on species and the availability of food, water, and harborage. Whether nesting indoors or outdoors the ants you see moving about in your home are foragers looking for food.

Are they dangerous?

Ants are considered nuisance pests for the most part. Carpenter ants may cause structural damage.

How do you get rid of ants?

Ants may be difficult to control that's why our service includes the necessary products and follow up visits for one fee. Our treatment methods consist of the following:

Initial Service - Detailed inspection of the interior and exterior of your home, then a targeted treatment of all areas where activity is present. Each Initial Service includes the application of seven exclusive Pest Guard steps, designed to rid your home of unwanted pests and keep them away.

Follow Up - Quarterly interior/exterior or exterior-only services will be scheduled as part of our annual Integrated Pest Management program. All Schendel Premium Care customers enjoy the benefit of our PestZero Guarantee. If pests return in between visits, Schendel returns for free.

Can I do it myself?

Due to the complexity of treatment and the time required, ants are generally not a pest many people have success in eradicating. Beware when purchasing pesticides and other products online as many are not effective. Pesticides can be harmful to people and pets if they are misused or mixed improperly.

How soon can you get here?

Schendel is 100% committed helping you ASAP. In most cases, we can respond the same or very next day.

Is the treatment safe?

Schendel uses the least amount of material as possible while still resolving the problem. We also utilize natural products, baits and mechanical means as a form of treatment. When conventional materials are required, we follow very stringent
